No bids on school loan

The Granite City School District No. 9's first attempt to solve its cash flow problems met with defeat Monday afternoon, when it was learned that none of the local banks had put in a bid on the $1.5 million borrowing endeavor.

Norman Owca, director of finance for the school district, said Tuesday that the "cash flow problems" are, in his opinion, temporary and are due to the delay in the district's receipt of tax monies.

IN LIGHT OF the absence of bids at Monday's meeting, Owca said he will refine a cash flow chart and present the chart, along with some options other than borrowing money, to the school board at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 19.

"The research I do on the chart will provide us with some options to the cash flow problem," said Owca. "I don't have much more to say about those options at this point, because I haven't started working on the chart yet."

Motorcyclist dies

Donald R. Polovchik Jr., 21, of 4043 Division St., was fatally injured Wednesday when his motorcycle collided with an auto at 2521 Morrison Road.

David W. Seilheimer, 18, of 3313 Princeton Drive, was attempting to pull a friend out of a ditch on Morrison Road at 2:46 a.m. Wednesday. According to official reports, Seilheimer's car was partially on the road.

Mr. Polovchik, who was riding eastbound on Morrison Road, saw Seilheimer's auto, but was unable to avoid a collision.

Mr. Polovchik was pronounced dead on the scene at 3:09 a.m. by Madison County Deputy Coroner Dick Mize.

Seilheimer was not injured in the crash.

Madison County police officials have not charged anyone in the accident.

Further details about Mr. Polovchik and funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Dream Factory: special people helping special children

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

Dreams—the mythical element in one's life that may someday become a reality, whether it is winning a million dollars or a fantastic trip to an exotic island in the South Seas—are important to everyone, but to terminally ill children, time is running out and if it were not for a group of people who energetically and devotedly work to provide a "dream" for them, the children may never know anything but long hours in hospital beds.

"Super people for super children" is the concept of The Dream Factory, organized by 38-year old

Charles Hensault of Hopkinsville, Ky., a telephone company employee. After he watched a television program about a Philadelphia, Pa., police officer who was using his own money to grant terminally ill children their wishes.

HE TALKED with fellow employees, neighbors and friends about the idea and an overwhelming enthusiasm was the response. Many supporters joined in the effort and the group became incorporated as a non-profit organization called The Dream Factory, Inc.

The Dream Factory was initiated in December 1980 in Hopkinsville and, since then, Hensault has helped organize 18 other chapters, including a highly active chapter in this area.

Referrals are received from nurses, police officers, hospital officials, relatives and parents of children.

THE CHILDREN are not all cancer patients, but have other illnesses for which there is no cure and each has a favorite wish. When the wish is a trip, it is scheduled only after a doctor is sure it will not cause any harmful effect and that the child is physically able to travel.

Medical facilities are found near the destination of the vacation trip so the child is never far from necessary medical treatment, should it be needed.

The founder used his own money to get started and with the help of KMOX radio, which allotted time to the story of the foundation, the first child from Hayes, Kan., was given a dream come true.

JACK P. SOLBERGER of Granite City became interested in this program and, after talking with the founder, decided he wanted to help children in this area with their special dreams.

He is now chairman of the St. Louis Metro Chapter, which encompasses a great area of Madison County and the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Dedicated people with their "dream" of fulfilling dreams for seriously or critically ill children between the ages of 3 and 13 joined Solberger in this "fantastic undertaking," he said.

ALTHOUGH there are 18 chapters throughout the country, the St. Louis Metro Chapter is the largest to date, with a registration of 150 members, Solberger said.

"We include the entire family when a trip is planned for a child so the family has a special event to

Girl Scouts donate earnings to victims of $70,000 fire

ANN MISKELL

Two Granite City Girl Scouts have taken their oath to "serve mankind" very seriously.

When Ann Miskell and Susan Arth learned that some fellow parishioners at St. Elizabeth Church had lost all of their belongings in a fire, they decided to donate their troops' funds to the family. The cashier's check for $215 was drawn up at American Heritage Bank and delivered to the family yesterday.

DOWNNA AND MARK Yehling of 1706 Garfield Ave., suffered $70,000 damage to their home and belongings in a fire Monday night. The Yehlings have six children.

"The kids at St. Elizabeth School are like one big happy family," said

Venice city sticker crackdown

Venice police officers will be issuing citations to residents who do not display a city sticker on the windshields of vehicles starting Monday, June 18, Venice Police Chief Farris Smith announced at Tuesday night's meeting of the city council.

Those receiving citations will have to appear in court and are liable for a $50 fine, the police chief said. Vehicle owners taken into police headquarters also will be required to post a $52 cash bond prior to being released from custody, he noted.

CITY STICKER sales are up somewhat from the number of sales a year ago, City Comptroller Roseann Koelker said.

A total of 1,100 has been sold to date, or about 300 more than at the same time in 1983.

In a report to the aldermen Tuesday night, Chief Smith said a check for $2,522 was returned to the city from Circuit Court Clerk Willard Portell. The amount represents fines collected through the department's efforts in May.

DURING the same month, 72 charges were filed against 65 adults and four juveniles, including 39 city traffic violations and nine state traffic violations.

Ten city ordinance violations also were filed, the report said.

GC Steel sale OK'd

The U.S. Justice Department has approved the sale of half of the stock of National Steel Corp. to Nippon Kokan K.K. of Japan. Among the plants which will be half owned by the Japanese is Granite City Steel.

The Justice Department found no "competitive problems" in the stock sale, noting that Nippon Kokan, Japan's second largest steelmaker, has only a small share of the U.S. Steel market.

Spokesmen for Granite City Steel have predicted that the sale will open up international markets for steel made here. In addition, the additional capital from the sale may be used for additional facilities and improvements here, including the possibility of construction of a second continuous slab caster.

NKK has agreed to purchase half of National Steel from National Intergroup, Inc., for $282 million in cash and securities. It will buy half of National's three steel mills, iron ore and coal operations and will assume existing debt and other liabilities relating to National Steel's business, including the sale of Weirton Steel to its employees.

An earlier proposed sale of National Steel to U.S. Steel was cancelled due to Justice Department opposition.

CONCRETE AND BRICK WORK. Footing is poured for one wall as bricklayers, in background, lay concrete blocks and bricks on the south wall along Iowa Street Wednesday at the National Supermarket construction project, adjacent to the present grocery store. The new 45,000-square-foot structure, more than twice the size of the present store, will replace the 20-year-old building, which will be razed for additional parking space.

Madison School District settles leaking roof suit

A year-long lawsuit against the architect and general contractor responsible for installing a defective roof on Madison County Middle School in 1980 has been settled, according to Illinois General Attorney Neil Hartigan.

Hartigan's office reports that a final settlement of a $56,277 negotiated settlement has been sent to Madison County School District Superintendent John Patchett.

Assistant Superintendent Ward James says the settlement is earmarked for replacing the middle school roof. "The school board has been notified," James said, "but officially there might be some other things come up (at the next board meeting), like the roofing material to be used."

The Attorney General's office filed suit last year on behalf of the Capital Development Board and the Madison School District against the architectural firm of Henry R. Gabriel and Associates, Inc., M&W

Group of Indianapolis, Ind., general contractor L. Wolf Company of Granite City and a number of subcontractors. The suit alleged that poor design and workmanship in the construction of the building, particularly the roof, resulted in water leaking into the insulation during construction. As a result, the suit says, the roof was never watertight and leaked consistently into classrooms in the A section of the middle school.

The suit stated further that, "as a direct result of the defendants' failure to repair the defects... as obligated to do under the guarantee... the classrooms were unusable without extensive and extraordinary repairs" at the expense of the school district.

Lower bus fares during VP Fair

The Bi-State Development Agency will lower fares on all its regular bus lines during the 1984 VP Fair, June 30, July 1, and July 4, to encourage fairgoers to avoid expected traffic jams by leaving their cars at home. Fares will be reduced to 25-cents for adults, 10-cents for the elderly and handicapped, and free to children under age five. Fares normally are 75-cents and one dollar.

"With an estimated five million visitors expected at this year's VP Fair, Bi-State wants to make bus transportation an economical and convenient alternative to the family car," said Michael H. Setzer, Bi-State general manager of transit.

"We want to do our part to make the fair a pleasant experience for everyone."

Bi-State will operate regularly scheduled weekend service on June 30 and July 1. On Independence Day, July 4, buses will operate according to Sunday schedules.

Because of the greatly reduced fares, transfers will not be issued. Passengers will pay the lower fare each time they board a bus. Exact change is required on all Bi-State buses.

Each night of the fair, following the fireworks display, passengers on regular service routes may board their buses on one of the following downtown streets: buses which serve the northern portion of the city and county (blue routes) will be parked on 9th Street between Market and Locust; buses serving the northwest portion of the metropolitan area (purple routes) will be parked on Washington Avenue between Broadway and 8th Street; and buses which serve areas to the south and southwest of downtown (yellow and red routes) will be parked on Locust Street between 4th and 6th. Illinois routes may be boarded at Broadway and Convention Plaza.

Bi-State's Transit Information Center, normally closed on weekends and holidays, will be open from 8 a.m. to noon on fair days to provide information on bus routes and schedules. The phone number for the Quad-City area is 875-4144.

Chamber Play Day

Six drivers' licenses suspended

The drivers' licenses of six Quad-City area residents have been revoked or suspended for alcohol-related driving convictions, according to Illinois Secretary of State Jim Edgar. At the same time, Edgar announced that one previous revocation has been rescinded by his office.

Drivers' licenses revoked for convictions of driving under the influence of alcohol are those of Lawrence E. Gerzits, 31, of 1605 Union St., Danny P. Hutchins, 33, of 2822 Nameoki Road, John E. Howland, 37, of Rural Route One, Box 1284, Granite City, and Tommy W. McCormick, 25, of 2177 Bern Ave.

Drivers' licenses suspended for implied consent (refusal to take a breath or blood alcohol test) were those of Kenneth F. White, 23, of 323 W. Chain of Rocks Road, and John E. Wells, 35, of Post Office Box 305, Venice.

Previous action revoking the driver's license of Sammy J. Cardin, 26, of 2111a Benton Ave., was rescinded by Edgar's office, it was announced.

Chrysler dealership honored

Granite Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc., was honored by Chrysler Corporation as the recipient of its coveted Five-Star Quality Service Award at a banquet this month at the Airport Marriott Hotel in St. Louis. This award is given only to those dealers who achieved the highest levels of customer service satisfaction in 1983, and is only one of 24 which were awarded in the St. Louis zone, which covers parts of a four-state area.

Representing the dealership was Nick A. Huniak, vice-president of the firm, who accepted the award from Marty Siegal, St. Louis zone manager for Chrysler.

Granite Chrysler-Plymouth is a full-line Chrysler Corporation dealership established in 1971 with facilities in downtown Granite City at 19th Street and Grand Avenue. Its president is H. J. "Mat" Matson, who reaffirmed the dealership's commitment to an on-going program of quality service and customer satisfaction.

Immediately after the tour, the group will travel to Opryland and spend the day.

The flag — a symbol of unity

The pendulum that times the moods and attitudes of America's youth is swinging toward traditional national values, a survey of young people's opinions indicates.

This study demonstrated that the country's youth is sharing adult concerns about major issues, such as nuclear warfare. Such findings offer sharp contrast to the postures of teenagers in the 1960s and '70s which were marked by strident and rebellious approaches to national affairs. The survey was based on responses from 986 students aged 13 to 18 across the country.

On Flag Day today, these findings offer assurance to those concerned over certain troublesome trends of life in the United States. What the survey points out is that the basic values which have shaped American's greatness are as sound as ever and are winning wider acceptance in an often distressed world.

Congress has recognized the special intent of honoring America by setting aside the 21-day period from Flag Day to Independence Day, July 4, as a time for examining our country's problems and considering what contributions we can make to help solve them.

This time span, selected to correspond to the traditional 21-gun salute accorded to heads of state, was initiated by the Honor America committee of the American Historic and Cultural Society and won hearty acceptance by Congress.

The survey of young peoples' views showed the majority agree with their parents' position on such subjects as drugs, education, politics and sex. Have the adults conscientiously thought out the answers to the problems related to these issues?

Unanimity of opinion, of course, is not to be expected. But as Americans we should and will treat our separate paths leading toward the common good of our country.

All adult citizens should make a positive effort to register and vote in local and national elections. In addition, everyone should try to familiarize himself or herself with local civic issues bearing on schools, taxes, crime and so forth. Some of these matters are complex and require time and effort.

But it is relatively simple to display our flag June 14 to July 4, an action which conveys a sense of respect, an indication that each individual knows and appreciates the significance of this banner.

Briggs pledges to restore Breckenridge area drainage

By PAT HAY LUTZ
for the Press-Record

In response to several requests from the residents of the 4200 block of Breckenridge Lane, the "farmer's ditch" will be dug out this summer to help eliminate drainage problems in that area, Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs said during the regular meeting of the town board Monday evening.

Residents have complained that the ditch has not been properly maintained for many years and does not provide adequate drainage in its present state.

BRIGGS HAD previously offered to bury a drainage line and cover the ditch over, but residents attending Monday's meeting argued that a buried line would not eliminate the standing water problem. When he suggested that the township "get a backhoe in there and dig it out," his proposal was accepted.

Community development funds will be used for the work as part of the drainage project currently being constructed in that area. "We'll get to it this summer," Briggs pledged. "We'll do it when we finish the drainage project out there. We just didn't have the time to finish it this year, but we'll get it done this summer," he added.

On a motion by Trustee Joe Garcia, board members voted unanimously to object to the issuance of a building permit to a new property owner in the area who has allegedly told some residents that he would cover the ditch during the construction of his home. (During the last regular meeting, Trustee W. Lee Adams told residents that the new owner had no intention of filling in the ditch when residents complained that a backhoe operator hired by the new owner told them that the ditch would be filled in. Adams was not present for Monday's meeting.)

THE METRO-EAST Sanitary District, which has control of the ditch, has given permission for work to be done on the ditch. Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic has agreed to perform any work, based upon the written permission from the sanitary district.

Another drainage controversy was discussed as letters written by Board Attorney Irvin C. Slate Jr. concerning a written agreement to maintain the Reta Court and Clinton Drive holding ponds, signed by former Highway Commissioner Albert Bell, were read to the board.

Current Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic, upon the advice of his attorney, R. Carl Runge Jr., has denied any responsibility for the maintenance of the holding ponds. The dispute over who is responsible arose when town board officials authorized the purchase and repair of pumps in the ponds during an emergency situation several weeks ago and Mehelic refused to pay for the services.

BOARD MEMBERS paid for the repair of existing pumps and the purchase of a spare pump out of the town fund and have threatened to sue the highway department for reimbursement.

In an effort to determine responsibility, Slate has contacted Albert Bell's former attorney, Nick Vashel, Bell's widow, and Clinton home owners Russell Lewis and David Foreman, who deeded the holding ponds to the township after they constructed them. All were asked to help locate a written agreement signed by Bell.

Although Slate told the board that he has not located any such document, Briggs informed Slate that he had given Slate "definite written commitments" in a packet of records last week, saying "It's there in black and white."

SLATE HAD NO other review of the records by Monday's meeting.

In other business, board members voiced approval for a bill before the state House of Representatives which would require a referendum for the annexation of property into city-townships. Current laws allow annexation by a simple petition and approval procedure, by which the petitioner requests annexation through the city council, and, if awarded, the property becomes part of the city and co-extensive township.

Granite City and Alton are the only two co-extensive city-townships in Madison County.

BECAUSE OF the loss of assessed valuation of property annexed into granite city, Briggs stated that passage of the legislation would be beneficial to unincorporated areas. "I have been working on this project since around 1967," Briggs said. "This is the first time we've ever gotten a foot in the door and it looks like we have a shot of a chance." Briggs has sent letters to state representatives asking for their support of the bill and officials of Chouteau and Venice townships also have given their support to the bill.

Briggs reported that he has contacted Joe Parente of Madison County Community Development to include Miracle Manor/Bellemeor Addition and Precinct Eight in the areas which qualify for community development funds. According to Parente, only the East Madison-Cloverleaf-Eagle Park Acres and 2nd-16th-px areas qualify for funding as low-income areas in the township. Community development funding would enable township officials to initiate general improvement projects in those areas.

BRIGGS ARGUED that boundary lines have been incorrectly drawn, thereby eliminating Miracle Manor/Bellemeor Addition and Precinct Eight from qualification, even though they are low-income areas.

Expressing confidence in approval, Briggs submitted the correct boundary lines of those areas to Parente.

Garcia commended the highway department for working to finish the Miracle Manor/Bellemeor Addition drainage project. Trustees had threatened to seek an outside contractor to complete the project if work was not completed. Board members also approved a request from the Granite City Emergency Services and Disaster Agency to use the township's radio frequency for emergencies. The frequency currently is used by the senior citizens' van program.

Governor meeting with Ruckelshaus this morning on emissions testing

Governor James R. Thompson, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Administrator William Ruckelshaus and General Assembly leaders were to meet at 7:45 this morning at the Executive Mansion to discuss proposed auto emissions testing legislation.

The meeting was called to give Ruckelshaus an opportunity to discuss penalties that may be imposed if the General Assembly fails to approve an auto inspection and maintenance program for selected Illinois counties, plans that are contained in Senate Bill 1963. That bill recently was sent to the Senate Transportation Committee.

Senate President Philip Rock, Senate Minority Leader James "Peke" Phillip, House Speaker Michael Madigan and House Minority Leader Lee Daniels will meet with Ruckelshaus and the governor.

"Thursday's meeting will give Administrator Ruckelshaus the opportunity to make clear the penalty we will pay if suitable legislation to test auto emissions is not approved before the general Assembly adjourns. Without a testing program that meets federal regulations, Illinois could lose $100 million in road funds, sanctions that would greatly harm an ambitious Illinois highway program for the coming years," the Governor said.

"While we were left no alternative but to submit SB 1963 to meet federal demands, to lose millions of dollars in federal road aid is something we cannot afford," he said.

Under SB 1963, car and light truck owners in Cook, Lake, Madison and St. Clair Counties would be required to have their vehicles inspected once a year.

Better report for Clinton

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission's latest assessment of progress at the Clinton nuclear power station concludes that Illinois Power Company's performance "was found to be improved and acceptable in each functional area."

The report was issued May 23. It covers the period of Oct. 1, 1982, to Feb. 29, 1984. It is the fourth report issued for Clinton; the last came out June 22, 1983.

There had been stop work orders in certain areas in the previous assessment period. The latest report noted a return to general construction activities.

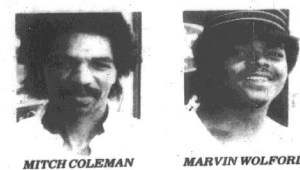

The NRC reviewed IPC's performance in 11 separate areas. One area wasn't rated; in all the others, a Category 2 rating was received. Category 1 is the highest, Category 3 the lowest.

The rating for quality assurance was raised from Category 3 to Category 2 in the latest report.

Area residents were asked if Gary Hart and Jesse Jackson should drop out of the race for the Democratic nomination to bring unity to the party?

Mitch Coleman, Venice

"Definitely not, because everybody else wants them to drop out and I feel they are both good candidates."

Marvin Wolford, Brooklyn

"I don't think they should, one of them might end up on top."

Tom Grieve, Granite City

"I think Hart has a better chance if he sits back this year and waits for the 1988 election. As for Jackson, he has his heart in the right place, but I don't think he has much of a chance getting the nomination."

Herb Sadler, Venice

"I don't think they are going to make that much of an effect if they drop out or not. The people in the power establishment know what's going to happen at the convention and haven't been influenced that much by the two of them. Of course they might now be more aware of changes in the country."

A history lesson for GC Steel's critics

To the Editor:
Concerning all those who blame Granite City Steel for air pollution, surely they can't remember the great depression.

Granite City Steel held this city together. It made this city in the first place and no one held a gun on any one or made them move near it's plant.

I have lived in it's shadow most of my life and it has supported me all these years and still sends me a check every month.

I remember how it created jobs during the depression for it's employees to keep them off of welfare (called relief in those days).

I have cleaned up it's dirt and was glad to do so, for that dirt hasn't killed me yet. I take no medicine, except an aspirin once in a while.

I don't believe G.C. Steel pollutes the air nearly as much as the hot air emitted by it's critics.

LONG TIME G.C. RESIDENT

Reader worried about disappearing freedoms

To the Editor:
Your Editorial (Seat Belt Law Will Be Ignored) should point out to all of us how our private rights, not only in motor vehicles but in most areas of our lives, are rapidly disappearing. I can't understand why elected officials feel they are elected to regulate the lives of the people who elected them.

This is not only a problem at federal and state levels, it is also a problem at the local level. How many laws have been proposed in recent years by our local officials that restrict the people of Granite City? The latest being on how many cars we can park in our own driveway.

As you pointed out, not one of those interviewed by your staff was in favor of the seat belt law, but I am sure it will not mean a thing to us if best for us, don't they?

I shudder to think what they have in store for us in the future. Thank you again for your stand against unnecessary restraints on the people.

Electric lighting facilities for night softball will be installed at Wilson Park, it was decided at a meeting of the Granite City Park Board yesterday afternoon. Installation will be started at once and will be completed by June 25. Cost of the improvement is $900 and the work will be done by John Kelahan, low bidder. The original bid was for 10 poles and 14 lights on which Kelahan was low with $1,240. This expense was deemed too high and the park board eliminated four poles and two lights, cutting $340 off the cost. Those interested in night softball said that six poles and 12 lights would be sufficient.

Opening date for the Wilson Park swimming pool has tentatively been set for 1 p.m. Saturday, Park Superintendent O.H. Williams said this morning. The scheduled opening last Thursday afternoon was postponed after breaks in two-inch lines which carry filtered water into the pool were discovered and extensive repairs were undertaken. Park employees currently replacing about 60 feet of the pipe on the south end of the pool are "on a very tight schedule," Williams said, and plans call for the concrete deck to be replaced Wednesday.

The First Granite City Savings and Loan today announced an additional location to serve the local area. "An unusual type building is to be erected at 1529 Johnson Road, offering walk-in and drive-in facilities, with ample parking space for customers," President Fred R. Williams said. A structure of Spanish motif is to be built by Ed Moore Construction Co., general contractor, starting in the next few weeks. "This new facility will give First Granite City Savings and Loan two locations to offer modern, first-class service to its customers," Williams noted.

Phone customers to get CUB brochures

The Illinois Citizens Utility Board today released a controversial brochure which it plans to distribute to more than 4,000,000 telephone customers throughout the state in July.

The brochure, which contains membership information about the newly-formed CUB, is one of three that will be contained in the telephone bills of residential and small business phone users. Under law, CUB is the only organization of its kind granted the authority to insert its pro-consumer literature in the bills of the state's gas, electric, telephone and water utility companies.

The enclosures, which were approved for distribution by the Illinois

Commerce Commission on May 30, aroused the ire of several of the state's major utility companies. One, Central Illinois Public Service, asked the ICC to deny CUB permission to mail the literature. Illinois Bell Telephone and Union Electric also filed comments with the agency which were critical of the CUB materials.

The ICC swept aside the utilities' objections in a 7-0 decision and gave CUB the go-ahead. CUB brochures are now being shipped to Illinois' 10 major telephone companies, which provide service to 90 percent of the state's utility customers.

"We've really sweated to get these first brochures into the hands of Illinois consumers," said Larry Kamer, CUB campaign director. "Not only were we working on an impossibly tight schedule, but we had to contend with the roadblocks thrown down by some powerful utility companies. But we'll be in the mail on July 2," he said.

Kamer urged telephone customers to watch for the July CUB enclosure and to read it carefully. "We hope Illinois consumers will take the time to read the literature that caused all the fuss," Kamer said.

History of Stallings School reviewed for Old Six Mile club

By MARGUERITE LEXOW

When I think of the former Stallings School, Alycia Robbins Seipel comes to mind.

Stallings in Nameoki Township became part of Granite City Community Unit School District Nine in 1950.

RECOLLECTIONS of the school were told to me before Mrs. Seipel's death, which occurred this spring, May 26, 1984, at the age of 85.

Her mother was a Stallings.

The mother's great-grandfather, Abraham Stallings, came down the Ohio River in 1796.

Her great-grandfather was Henry Stallings, for whom the Stallings area here was named in the early 1800s.

MRS. SEIPEL remembered that the first Stallings School was built of logs. It was situated about a mile from the second Stallings school, a frame one-room school, later expanded.

One teacher taught all grades. Her salary was $25 a month and she had to be the janitor as well. However, the school boys helped by carrying buckets of coal into the school building from the coal shed after classes.

The teacher was Miss Emma Oswald. She came from Alhambra, Ill., and boarded at Mrs. Seipel's mother's home, returning to Alhambra on weekends.

Mrs. Seipel shared a room and its bed with the teacher but recalls that this did not help her grades any. The instructor played no favorites.

MISS OSWALD was considered to be a very good teacher and to have maintained good discipline, a necessity with so many children of all ages in a single classroom.

Mrs. Seipel remembered the annual school picnics, held in her aunt's front yard. There were picnic baskets, with much good food. Everyone tried to outdo the others.

When Mrs. Seipel was in the third grade, her family moved to St. Louis. She graduated from the Webster School located in St. Louis.

In succeeding years, her family moved back to Stallings.

SHE TOLD ME that the land for Stallings School was deeded for a school only. If not used as a school, the land was to go back to the Stallings heirs. Agitation over this brought on a heart attack for her in 1978.

Records from the superintendent of schools office show that, at one time, the school trustees were Philip Braden, H.H. Strackeljah and Fritz Harbig.

School directors in 1907 were Charles Smith, M. B. Moore and Mrs. Lillie Pettingill.

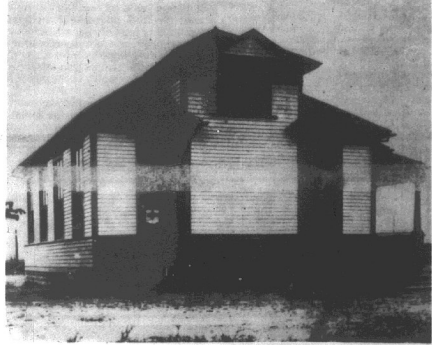

IN 1913, Mollie Kaufman taught at Stallings School for a salary of $60 per month.

Records on area schools were compiled by the Press-Record for its 1971 historical edition marking the 75th anniversary of the City of Granite City and for its 1982 edition commemorating the 150th anniversary of Madison County.

The local county was created in 1812, six years before Illinois became a state.

THESE RECORDS show the following Stallings School Board presidents:

1911-14 — Robert Kraus
1914-15 — Henry Bruene

Bell seeks approval to operate cellular system

Southwestern Bell Mobile System, Inc. has filed a covering license request with the Federal Communications Commission seeking final federal regulatory approval to operate its cellular mobile telephone system in St. Louis.

The service will be offered through St. Louis Cellular System, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems.

John H. Atterbury III, Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems president and chief executive officer, said the company expects to begin cellular service in St. Louis this summer, should regulators grant necessary approvals as planned.

Cellular is a new type of mobile phone service capable of providing direct dialed mobile communications to thousands of users who may be unable to obtain phone service today.

It operates by dividing a city into small areas or cells, each served by its own transmitter. As the caller drives across the service area, the call is automatically passed from one cell to another.

The St. Louis service area is expected to cover 2,900 square miles, ranging from as far north as Godfrey, Ill., as far east as Edwardsville, as far west as Wentzville and south to Pevley.

Atterbury said Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems' authorized agents in the St. Louis metropolitan area will sell, install and maintain cellular mobile telephones and accept orders for cellular service.

The company's St. Louis authorized agents are American Marketing; Americom Communications Corporation; Mobile Phone Systems, Inc.; Moore Cadillac/Jaguar/Pontiac, and Rapid Communications Sales.

Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems also is negotiating with several high-technology retail outlets to represent its cellular service.

RCGA schedules Hilton reception

Homemakers' aid offered by CHEP program

Many homemakers find it hard to provide for their families and pay all of their bills too. Homemakers on limited incomes find it especially hard. Nearly 40,000 Illinois residents receive help in fighting the battle of the budget through programs sponsored by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service.

The Consumer and Homemaking Education Program (CHEP) is an Extension program that helps meet the needs of Illinois homemakers. These families are taught by program assistants and community workers, local homemakers who work on a neighbor-to-neighbor basis.

"They live in the neighborhoods where they work and know from first-hand experience the problems homemakers face," says Jane Scherer, program coordinator, CHEP, of the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service.

The help program assistants bring to a program family is tailored to the circumstances of the individual family. CHEP program assistants can help with money management, community resources, food buying, child care and health information. Homemakers are assisted on a volunteer basis and may request the area of information that interest them most. Low income homemakers in the targeted areas of Collinsville, Edwardsville, Alton, Granite City, Venice, Madison and East St. Louis are eligible to participate in the program.

More than 200 program assistants from all parts of Illinois recently participated in in-service training workshops and sharing sessions at the State Paraprofessional Conference in Urbana. Paraprofessionals from Madison and St. Clair Counties who attended were Wilma Hancock, Granite City; Lenora Brown, Verna McClelland, Eva Davenport and Patricia Shipp, Madison-Venice area; Vivian Allen, Alton, and Marguerite Rupert, Gwendolyn Alford and Joyce Brown, E. St. Louis and Linda Crawl, CHEP Adviser for both counties. The (CHEP) program in Madison County is located at 2216 Madison Ave. in Granite City.

remember. We transport the family by limousine, also provided by a volunteer, to the airport and when they arrive at their destination, a car is at their disposal. Also, they have housing accommodations ready upon their arrival and we give them spending money to visit and see all the interesting sites at their dreamland selection," Solberger explained.

Most of the time there are other children who also suffer because of a severe illness within the family. That is why all are included on these trips. After a family has experienced long hospitalization of a child, all members are emotionally and mentally drained and the Dream Factory has found that the entire family returns from a trip away from their worries with a better outlook.

"This organization is very lucky to have Sea World, Disney World, Days Inn, National Car Rental and especially Ozark Airlines, to name a few, who furnish tickets, housing and transportation free to the families. There are many companies donating large amounts of money, and individuals contributing who do not want any publicity for their contributions or volunteer services," the chairman added.

"WITHOUT THEIR help and generous contributions, this project would not be able to function as well as it does right now. It takes approximately $1,500 for a family trip and we need all the help we can get to continue this venture, the local man noted.

Dr. Gordon Gale of St. Louis, who is involved with many of these children, is a member of the organization and is chairman of the screening committee. He attends each monthly meeting and verifies when a child is ready to take the dream tour.

Solberger went on to say, "Not all children want a vacation trip. There are some who are interested in seeing a sports event. We had a boy from St. Louis who only wanted to see the Washington Redskins play the Dallas Cowboys, so a trip to Dallas was arranged. The Dallas team was really great and made every effort to show the boy anything he was interested in seeing, including the locker room, where he talked with all team members both before and after the game when they could really visit with him. His family was escorted to their seats and given the red carpet treatment by the Dallas Cowboys cheerleaders.

"THIS IS ANOTHER time when the Dallas team did not want any publicity, while the family was visiting or after. It was just something they wanted to do with no fanfare connected to their actions," Solberger said.

Another boy was interested in flying and airplanes and his greatest pleasure was a visit from two test pilots who came to the hospital especially to see him. He was in a depressed state at the time and, after a lengthy visit with the pilots, he "perked" up.

To continue his interest in flying, Earl Tucker and Jim Barton of Granite City, who both have planes at Lakeside Airport, took the boy from the hospital and flew him to his home in Mount Vernon. During the flight, they gave him an impromptu instruction session and, at the end, let him sit at the controls.

"THIS IS THE kind of thing that all our members do — just find out what a child wants and see that it happens. We are just average people doing a good thing, this is a little man's organizations with people from all walks of life bonded together to do a job for kids," Solberger explained.

He added, "We meet on the second Monday of each month beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium on the first floor of Cardinal Glennon Hospital in St. Louis. Anyone who is interested in helping children is invited to attend."

For every dollar that is donated, 50 cents goes to the dream fund and the remaining 10 cents is used for postage and phone calls to arrange trips. Many people who have heard of the organization send donations from $1 on up and 70 percent of the checks are written by men, Solberger said.

MRS. PEGGY SOLBERGER works diligently with her husband on this program and said, "Time and effort are the keys to the project and you may be given just a few hours to finalize plans for a trip after a doctor calls and tells you there is a child ready to travel, but all the work is worth it if you could just see the families' happiness when they realize they can get away from their problems for a week.

"Of all the children we have helped since September, one-third have since died, so you see, time is of the essence," she explained.

Since September, a total of 53 applications have been made to the chapter to fulfill dreams, of which 12 still are pending.

McDONNELL-DOUGLAS Corp. decided to become a sponsor of the group and has sent donations to the Dream Factory, as has the Minerva Club in Granite City and many other civic and community groups in the area. Since its inception, in September 1983, the Dream Factory has received $22,000, that was either donated or earned through various fund-raising events planned by the members.

"Just to show you how many people think this is an important project, the CVO group at St. James Parish in Millstadt, Ill., will sponsor several events this week to raise money to help other kids. They have arranged softball games, a roast for the priest, bake sales, raffles, cake walks and babysitting services and will send the money to us," the chairman said.

Fred and Judy Willis of Granite City are actively involved in all aspects of the organization. He serves as photographer and takes pictures whenever needed. He will be photographing some of the events in Millstadt during this week.

"ALSO, THE THIRD grade students in Bethalto always held a $3 gift exchange at Christmas and last year they decided to spend 50 cents for a gift and send the rest of the money to the Dream Factory. Would you believe those kids came up with a $700 contribution?" the chairman exclaimed.

Don Morrison, vice president of Ozark Airlines, is one of the national directors of the Dream Factory and has issued directions to all Ozark employees that when a family is ready to board a plane, all other passengers are held back until the family is settled and has talked with the pilot and pictures are taken with him and the stewardess.

In concluding the interview, Solberger said, "This is an organization for people who have no prejudice in relation to color, religion or national origin of children, but only want to help without any publicity or honors personally."

MRS. SOLBERGER added, "we get many, many letters from parents telling us how grateful they are to have had the opportunity to spend a happy time with their families."

One mother, whose child died shortly after the vacation trip, summed up whole operation with her familiar song line, "People who need people are the luckiest people in the world."

By DONNA KIMBRO of the Press-Record

Additional leaks in both the wading and large pool at Wilson Park continue to plague the Granite City Park Commissioners and, with the current economic squeeze, the question at a meeting Wednesday night was whether to instruct the plumbing company to hire additional men to work overtime. If necessary, to get the pool in operation by this weekend.

Director of Parks and Recreation David Nolan told the board members that the leak in the supply line in the baby pool is repaired and the break in the suction line with the overflow in the main pool was found and repaired. Another leak, however, has been discovered in the larger pool.

With the new problem, Nolan is optimistic that the repairs could possibly be completed in time to open this weekend.

An attempt to get a reversal in a Granite City zoning case was continued Monday after the defendant's attorney was not able to attend. In the case, the city of Granite City has filed a post-trial motion to reverse the decision in the Kibort zoning issue. A jury in Madison County had ruled in favor of the Kiborts in April.

The dispute in the case surrounds the denial of a license for a body shop in a C-5 zoning. The Kiborts currently operate a floral design business and an auto body repair shop on a lot at 2701 Pontoon Road. The Kiborts had been leasing the property for six weeks when the Granite City Council amended the zoning ordinance to place body shops in an M-1 zoning classification.

The Kiborts had won the zoning decision based on a defense that the zoning ordinance was changed "after the fact."

In another court case, the Kiborts are pursuing a civil proceeding against the city. In this case, the Kiborts are seeking an injunction to prevent the city from "harassing" them, a declaratory judgment that the zoning ordinance was unconstitutional and a mandamus compelling that the city give them a business license.

John Papa, city attorney who is defending the city in the civil proceeding, said that Associate Judge Clayton Williams has requested that both parties return legal briefs to him by Friday.

This action against the city was filed two weeks ago.

FOR PET'S SAKE

by James R. Hill, D.V.M.

PET BIRD ALTERNATIVE

Looking for a pet? While trying to decide which kind of pet you would prefer to get, you might take a moment out to consider a bird. Though less customary than dogs or cats in our culture, birds are certainly an attractive alternative - and one that might even better suit your needs.

These little "feathered friends" are sociable, affectionate, and companionable. They are also beautiful to look at and can be quite entertaining with their singing. In addition... though the rarer species can be quite expensive to buy... they're relatively inexpensive to keep and considerably less trouble to care for than most other pets.

The choice of which kind of bird is also important. The range is as great, or greater than with dogs or cats. You can have a quiet female canary, a lively pair of finches, a parakeet that's part of the family, a mynah that talks back to you, or a parrot who shares your home for fifty years! A feathered friend might be just the sort of pet that suits you.

Massage: A therapeutic answer to tension

By CHARLIE SKAER
of the Press-Record

Warren Buster works in a profession with an image problem. "When you say massage, people automatically think of two things. They think of massage parlor," says Buster, raising an eyebrow. "And they think of somebody going, 'Chop, chop, chop,' on your body, flipping you over and going, 'Chop, chop, chop,' again."

Buster, a professional masseur, is introducing massages as an activity available to the public at the Renaissance Fitness Center in Granite City. But the task has been made difficult because the public images of massages are inaccurate, he says.

"That's why I wanted to bring it in slowly and introduce it to the people in Granite City in a professional way," he says.

Such professionalism includes the name "therapeutic massage," which Buster says is a better description of the massage offered at the center. The three individuals giving the massages — Buster and two females — are appropriately known as "therapists." Buster and one of the females are certified in Amberboy massage, while the other female is certified in Swedish massage.

Professionalism is the only way to change the image, says Buster.

"I tell them I'm a masseur and they say, 'Oh wow, that's neat. I'll have to try it sometime.' Everybody tells me that."

"But they don't know what to expect because they've never had a massage. That's what I'm trying to get people introduced to — the lost art of massage. It is therapeutic. It does help your body out by relieving tension and relaxing your mind."

Buster sees massage as a part of sports, because "all professional teams have a masseur." But he says amateurs can also benefit from massages.

"We had a health teacher in high school that would massage us before a football game," says Buster, who graduated in 1975 from Roxana High School. "It helped you relax before you went out on the field. He would massage you real quick all over the body and you're thinking, 'Wow, that was great. I'm ready to go.' It just helped psychologically, more or less."

Buster said his massages are more complex, affecting the body psychologically and physically.

"I help both. I do everything from the head to the toes — the total body in an hour. I hit the major muscles of the body and the minor muscle groups of the body, too."

"I also do isolated therapy, which only lasts 30 minutes and is on a par-throughout the whole body."

Buster says there are limitations to what a masseur can do.

"I can't adjust — I'm not a chiropractor. I just deal with the muscles and aligning them, where a chiropractor can adjust the spinal column, the vertebrae, the discs."

Warren Buster

ticular part of the body. I do a lot of lower backs, shoulders and arms."

Buster says the professional massage differs from a massage given by an amateur because of the wide variety of information a masseur or masseuse has learned. Buster said he took weekly classes for about eight months at the Seven Pines Paraterritorial Center in St. Louis before getting his certification.

"Let's say your wife has a neckache," says Buster. "You'll rub her neck a while and it'll feel great. She'll say, 'Thanks a lot, that felt really good.'"

"But then about half an hour later, the pain will come back because you didn't finalize it. You pretty much need to do a triangle of muscles around the area that's hurt. You have to get them all or it'll tense back up and the pain will come back automatically."

The massaging of both sides of the body is known as "alignment," which deals with massaging muscles to help the body's natural healing powers.

"The body will try to heal itself," explains Buster. "If there's an injury on the left side, the muscles will condense around that stricken area and try to protect it."

"If the right side of the neck is sore, you have to massage that side. But you have to massage the left side, too, because it has been put through the tension of trying to help out the other side. It's the same way

Buster says most massages are similar, although different techniques are used.

"In the Amberboy massage, I use mainly the fingers, the hands, the side of the hands, maybe a little of the forearm. Someone giving a Swedish massage might use the elbows or the sides of the arms."

"Basically they are the same, but they use different techniques. Each masseur or masseuse will have a different personality or different style."

Buster said he gives three types of Amberboy massages — light, medium and deep.

"The first time I give someone a massage, I'll give them a light massage to introduce them to what I do and to introduce their body to the touch or the movement of the hand. The light massage is based on relieving mental stress, anxiety and tension."

"The medium massage is more of aligning the muscles and relieving stress. The deep therapy is when you go down and follow the muscle, going down as deep as you can. That's more for the athlete who is really sore or someone who is really having problems with certain areas of the body. You go a lot harder and it actually hurts sometimes."

Buster says there are three major stress areas in your body that need massaging.

"The major one is in the lumbar area of the back, which is the lower back," he explains. "The second one is in the neck, right in the base of the neck up to the medulla of the brain. The third one is the feet, which nobody thinks about."

"The neck is the usually one that everybody finds out about the most or thinks about. Mental stress conveys most on the neck."

The lumbar area receives its stress from near-constant movement.

"Anything you do with your body, your lumbar area goes through with that action. Whether it's sleeping, sitting up, walking, bending down to pick something up, running — whatever you do, your body goes to the midpoint, your lumbar area. If it's moving all the time, you're going to have stress."

Feet are put in a lot of stress because they carry the load of the body. A specialized massage to the feet, known as reflexology, has been developed through ideas from acupuncture.

"The nerves that go into the feet connect to other parts of your body," says Buster. "For example, massaging a certain part of your foot can help out your intestines. By massaging your toes, you can help out your sinuses."

In addition to the stress area, there are three major influences on stress — nutrition, mental needs and physical fitness. "Those three things interact with each other. If one goes wrong, it can affect the other two."

"Everybody that I massage, they usually come back," says Buster. "Once they know what it's all about and they know what I'm going to do, they're comfortable. But at the first one, they don't know what I'm going to do and they're just laying there all tense."

To offset the initial tenseness, Buster plays a tape specifically designed to relax individuals before a massage. The music, by Steve Halpin and Georgia Kelly, contains pianos, harps and flutes. Buster also tries to dispel any fears.

"I explain everything to them before I do anything," he says. "I tell them what the music is for, how I'm going to go about their body, what I'm going to do."

Buster says he has given massages to males and females, as have the center's two female therapists. He said some customers prefer one sex, while "most middle-aged people don't really care."

"Some guys might think, 'I just don't want a guy rubbing his hands on my body.' I've had a guy say that to me before. I said fine."

But the individual felt differently after he tried Buster. The man said he preferred Buster because of his harder touch than the female therapist.

Charges for the full-body massage are $25 for non-members and $30 for members. Charges for the isolated therapy is $15 for non-members and $13 for members.

Buster said the center may also offer classes in the future to teach how to give massages.

"I think everybody needs a good massage, whether you're a housewife or a businessman," Buster says. "Everybody goes through stress and I think a massage would benefit anyone."

The Sixth Inning

Marissa discovers Triplets' Achilles Heal, 5-4

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

MARISSA — Tri-City Senior American Legion baseball coach Dave Coakley is beginning to wonder what he and his team has done to deserve the kind of misfortune that they have had recently.

Last night after taking the lead in the fourth inning, Coakley's crew surrendered that lead in the sixth inning and wound up losing to the Marissa Legion Post 1725-4.

"I don't understand it," Coakley began after the game. "We get ahead and along comes the sixth inning and we make some mistakes, they get some breaks and we come out on the short end. Lately, it's been rough in the sixth inning."

Indeed it has. THE LOSS was the Triplets' third in the sixth inning in the young season. In addition to last night's loss to Marissa, Tri-City met with a similar fate against North Division rivals Edwardsville and Collinsville.

The loss drops the Triplets' overall record to 1-5 and 0-3 in the north division. Marissa, last year's South Division champion, improved its record to 4-4 in the league.

Despite the loss and the apparent trend his team has taken lately in the sixth inning, Coakley is confident that his team will snap the streak and emerge like the competitive team he believes it is.

"WE ONLY had four hits tonight, but we've got a good ball club, we'll come around," Coakley said.

"We made the two mistakes, Keith (Coakley) made the error at first base and that cost us a run and late in the game Timmy (Gray) made the error at second which enabled them to send two more across the plate."

"Sometimes you can make an error and it doesn't cost you, but these two did tonight, but the errors were not our only problem. They got a break on that ball which took a bad hop for us and got by Pat (Cathey) at shortstop, and too, we're not hitting the ball," Coakley said.

"LIKE I said, we only had four hits tonight and two of those were home runs. Things will pick up," Coakley said.

Tri-City's home run blasts came late in the game, in the fifth and seventh innings. Leading 2-1 in the fifth, Keith Coakley sent a rocket over the left-center field fence 355 feet away to pad the Triplets' lead to two, 3-1.

The second smash, by Sam Tate, was less conspicuous looking than Coakley's as it just cleared the right field fence in the seventh inning and momentarily pumped hope into the trailing Triplets.

Tri-City's other two hits came fourth and sixth innings as designated hitter Steve Davis singled to left field in the fourth inning. Pat Cathey picked up the Triplets' third hit of the evening in the sixth inning when he also singled to left field.

TRIPLETS starting pitcher Tim Gray stymied the Marissa offense, for the most part, until the fifth inning when he issued two walks to lead off batters Kevin Triefenbach and Ray Smith.

With runners at first and second, Marissa's Dave Alfred singled to left field to score Triefenbach which led to Gray's exodus after 4 and a third inning.

Tate came in to relieve Gray and retired the side, but suffered through a two-hit three-run sixth — the fateful inning.

THE TRIPLETS' other two runs — in addition to the two homers — came in the fourth inning. Cathey reached on an error by Jeff Rowold at shortstop, advanced to second on a passed ball and then scored on Davis' single.

The Triplets' other run of the inning came on the same play when Jim Moulden, who reached on a walk, dashed home when Ray Smith's errant throw after fielding Davis' hit.

The Triplets, who also dropped a 7-3 decision to Bethalto on Monday, see action tonight as they travel to Waterloo for a 6 p.m. contest. On Friday Tri-City travels to Highland for an 8 p.m. contest.

The Triplets' next home game is Tuesday, June 19, when they host East Alton.

Summer School

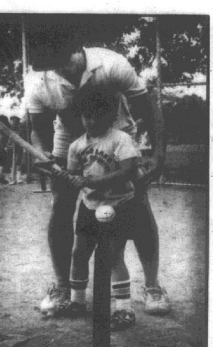

SUMMER FUN. The Granite City Park District began its summer sports learning sessions this week for area children. The lessons will continue for seven weeks. Children who have not yet registered, but still wish to participate in the session may still do so by registering at the Wilson Park Office. At left, Kelly Karandjeff practices her swing in the 8-9 year old girls' tennis class. The program is under the direction of John Van Buskirk and his assistant, Dina Lombardi and benefits students from age 6 to adult. At center, Jamie Ahlers

MAC Juniors slip past
Troy hurlers Monday

TROY — The Mitchell Athletic Club Junior American Legion team raised their record to 5-0 Monday with a 6-1 victory over Troy.

Eric Gray got the win for Mitchell as he pitched a two-hitter. Gray went 4 and two-thirds innings before allowing a hit. Troy's only run came in the bottom of the seventh inning and was unearned.

Mitchell jumped to an early lead as they scored two in the first. Greg Nemeth reached on an error to get the inning started for Mitchell. Derek Merz sent Nemeth home with a single to left. Gray scored Merz with a base hit to make the score 2-0.

IN THE second inning, Mitchell continued its scoring spree. Tim Groves reached base with a single and was driven in by Nemeth. Gray came through with another base hit driving in Nemeth.

The score remained the same until the top of the fifth when Mitchell added two security runs.

Merz led off the inning with a double. Billy Moore sent Merz home with another double. Moore then stole third and scored on a wild pitch.

Troy's only run came in the bottom of the seventh.

An error by the Mitchell third baseman, Moore, allowed the runner to take second base. He later scored on a base hit by Helter to account for the only Troy run.

GC Soccer Club girls' team wins state crown

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER

of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Most people will say that it's baseball season, but if you ask a group of young women who play for the Granite City soccer club, they'll tell you it's definitely soccer season.

Better than that, they'll tell you that their soccer season is just heating up. Their biggest games are still ahead of them.

What soccer team could be playing in this heat, it the middle of baseball and softball season? The answer is as easy to find as nearby Worthen Park. That's where you'll find the Granite City Soccer Club's Under 19 girls' team. They're there practicing, getting ready for their June 23 Midwest Regional McGuire Cup games at Eastern Michigan University.

SCHEDULED at fields near Ypsilanti, Mich., a suburb of Detroit, the girls will meet the Indiana state champions at 9 a.m. and then, win or lose, will meet the Michigan state champions at 1 p.m. Semifinal and championship games will be played on Sunday, the following day. The regional winner will advance to the national tournament which will be held in St. Louis next month.

The women earned their berth to this month's regional tournament last Sunday, June 10, when they soundly defeated their semifinal-round opponents, the Salt Creek Peppers 6-2, and then went on to defeat the Schwaben Soccer Club's team 3-0 in a heated match in Schaumburg for the Illinois state championship.

AGAINST Salt Creek, the girls Guelker to lead SFF clinic

Soccer for Fun and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Coach Bob Guelker announce that an Indoor Soccer Clinic will be conducted by Coach Guelker at Soccer For Fun one week beginning July 9 to July 15.

The cost will be $30 for the week. Applications must be in by June 15th. Age groups are 9 years old to 16 years old, boys or girls.

On the first day of the camp, Soccer For Fun will award two free fees to one boy and one girl whose fees will be refunded.

Persons wishing to register should call 797-0619.

simply ran away with the game. Scoring on two unassisted corner kicks, the local girls concentrated play at their opponents' goal.

In contrast, Beth Gasparovic, Granite City's goalkeeper, needed only nine saves to stop their northern Illinois opponents. Aided by winds which gusted up to 35 miles per hour, Granite City displayed its offensive firepower as Laura James and Deana Wallace each scored twice for Granite City. Chris Kessler and Kathy Juhasz each scored once to round out the local club's six tallies.

IN ADDITION to the two unassisted corner kicks, Kessler picked up an assist on Granite City's second goal as she set the ball up for Juhasz who pushed it past Salt Creek's goalie.

Granite City's third and fourth goals came on penalty kicks by James and Wallace before Wallace scored Granite City's fifth goal, the second of the two unassisted corner kicks.

Leading 5-0 at the half, the local girls managed just a single tally in the second half. Aided by the same gusting wind which helped Granite City in the first half, Salt Creek managed two goals in the second half, not enough, however, to overcome the barrage they suffered at the hands of the local girls.

AGAINST Schwaben, the girls continued their successful string of goal-scoring corner kicks. Granite City's first goal came on yet another unassisted corner kick. Wallace put Granite City on the scoreboard as she threaded a corner kick, again unassisted, past the Schwaben goalkeeper.

The local women's second goal came on yet another corner kick as Wallace put the ball up at the goal mouth for Kessler who timed her shot perfectly to beat the Schwaben defense.

Granite City's third goal of the afternoon came as James slapped a penalty kick past Schwaben's goalkeeper to secure the state championship.

DESPITE the apparent scoring of just a handful of the team members last weekend, coach Jean Fournie says her team's success lies more than with the personal successes of the few.

"This is and always has been a team," Mrs. Fournie said. "It takes 11 players to score and, similarly, it takes 11 players to be scored upon."

At 10-2-1 this season, the local girls haven't been scored upon too often

STATE CHAMPS. Members of the Granite City Soccer Club's Under 19 Girls soccer team captured the Illinois state championship last Sunday when it soundly defeated the Schwaben Soccer Club 3-0 in Schaumburg, a Chicago suburb. As Illinois state champions, the girls will travel to Michigan later this month to represent Illinois in the Midwest Regional. Members of the team include (beginning front left) Robin York, Maria Parra, Dawn Schwartz, Beth Gasparovic, Kathy Juhasz, Gina Buhl and Deana Wallace. In the back row is coach Jean Fournie, Chris Kessler, Patti Flanigan, Anna Fournie, Carolyn Horbelt, Sue Schefke, Jeanne Dodson, Laura James and assistant coach Craig Kessler. this season. In fact, the two losses came to one team — Trammel-Crow the Missouri state champions.

MRS. FOURNIE explained that both losses to Trammel were close, very close, and should the two teams meet again in the regional later this month, she hopes the third time will be lucky for her squad.

"Both times we played them outdoors the games were unbelievably close," Mrs. Fournie said. "The last time we played them the game was decided on the last goal of a shootout. And, you can't get much closer than that. The girls really feel like it's their turn to win should they have to play them again."

Coach Fournie said the local squad did manage a victory against the Trammel-Crow in a mini-indoor tournament, and is hopeful that her team's successes indoors will carry them to a victory outdoors.

PERHAPS the team's biggest asset is its depth and experience. Nearly half of the team has been to a regional tournament before, and four girls — Carolyn Horbelt, Chris Kessler, Laura James and Sue Schefke — have twice competed in the national tournament on the same team.

The four girls mentioned were members of the highly successful team which was coached by Bob Kurilla the last three years. Deana Wallace and Anna Fournie has also competed in three regional tournaments, but with different teams.

It's that experience which Coach Fournie hopes will provide the difference in regional.

THE TEAM of 15 girls in anchored in its defense by goalie Beth Gasparovic. Assisting in the backfield are Maria Parra, Anna Fournie, Sue Schefke, Jeanne Dodson, Carolyn Horbelt and Patti Flanigan.

Halfbacks and midfielders include Nancy McClew, Laura James, Dawn Schwartz and Gina Buhl.

Granite City's forward line consists of Chris Kessler, Deana Wallace, Robin York and Kathy Juhasz at center.

"What's great about this team," Coach Fournie said, "is its depth and the ability of each player to come in or start at in different circumstances. We really don't have any set starting lineup. We all contribute equally, whether a person starts or comes in off the bench.

BECAUSE the team is as soccer knowledgeable as it is, for all intents and purposes, beyond teaching technique, Coach Fournie and her assistants Craig Kessler and David James have spent much of this week working on conditioning, hoping to get any advantage they can entering the regional tournament.

"I really can't say enough about Craig and David. They've been doing a great job this week getting the girls into shape. We'll take any advantage we can get," Fournie concluded.

Collins is GCC new cage coach

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Granite City Center Provost and Athletic Director Dr. Frank Gornick answered the question Tuesday which many basketball enthusiasts in the area had been pondering for some time — who would succeed Larry Graham as the men's basketball coach at the junior college.

Gornick's answer is Terry Collins, last year's junior varsity basketball coach at Washington University in St. Louis.

Collins fills the vacancy left by Graham who, in March, resigned his basketball coaching positions at GCC and Madison High School to accept the head basketball coach's position at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"I'm very excited. I've always wanted to be a head coach and it's very exciting to get involved in a program in its early stages," Collins said Tuesday in Gornick's office.

Collins, 29, led the WU Battling Bears to a 5-9 record last season, his first year as the junior Bears' coach.

GCC basketball fans may remember Collins from last season as the Stars played WU twice during the course of the season. It was during those meetings, Collins said, when he learned that there may be a coaching vacancy at GCC the following season.

"I guess you could say I learned of the position from Graham," Collins said. "Our teams played each other twice during last season and Larry told me that he had applied for the SIUE position."

Evidently, Graham's meeting with Collins impressed him enough to recommend Collins for the GCC position to Gornick.

"That's really what happened," Gornick said Tuesday. "Terry came highly recommended from Larry. There were a lot of coaches we considered for the position, but Terry, I think, impressed us the most of anyone interviewed," Gornick said.

Currently, a counselor at Incarnate Academy in St. Louis, an all-girls high school, Collins' coaching position at GCC, like Graham's, is part time.

A 1972 graduate of Pater Noster

High School in Los Angeles, Cal., Collins played guard on his high school basketball team.

He didn't play college basketball, and instead concentrated his energy on academics and graduated Magna Cum Laude from Cal Poly-Pomona in 1975 with a BA in history. Two years later he received his teaching credentials.

Next month, he will return to the United States Sports Academy in Mobile, Ala., where he will complete his master's degree.

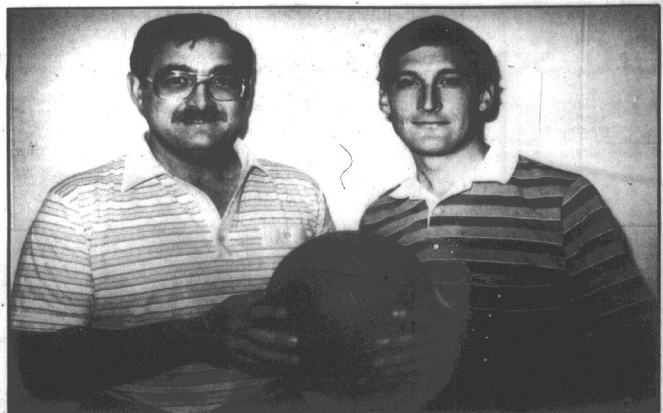

After graduating from college in 1975, Collins coached and taught at Bishop Amat High School in La Puente, Cal. In addition to coaching both the boys' varsity and junior varsity squads, Collins taught history, civics and drivers' education.

His stay at Bishop Amat lasted four years before he went on to his Alma Mater, Pater Noster, for a year and later to Saint Monica High School in Santa Monica, Cal., for three years before going to Washington University in 1983.

Collins said he expects the transition from a Division III four-year university (Washington University) to a junior college to be a smooth one, and does not anticipate any difficulty.

"Certainly, there's some adjustment to be made, but basically, the coaching philosophy is the same."

Collins will get the opportunity to display his coaching philosophy on Nov. 17 as the Stars open their season against Lincolnland College of Springfield.

A NEW STAR. Granite City Center Provost and Athletic Director Dr. Frank Gornick, left, introduced the center's new men's basketball coach Tuesday, Terry Collins. Collins, 29, comes to GCC from Washington University in St. Louis where he coached WU's junior varsity squad.

On Monday, Tuesday Spanky's come from behind to take pair from Sauget hurlers

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — While general and business manager, Pat Peterson and playing manager, Bill Stolte, desperately search all through the eastern half of the United States attempting to find pitching talent who haven't signed or been drafted, the 7-Up/Spanky's have fallen back on the near-equal part of winning baseball. An awesome batting attack to carry them to victory.

Tuesday night at Granite City's varsity field, Spanky's made it two straight over the brand-new and talent-laden Sauget team organized by Granite Cityan, Jim Greenwald, and managed by ex-pro, Bobby Hughes.

Both Greenwald and Hughes had formerly starred for the Spanky's, Hughes serving two straight years as player-manager in 1982 and '81.

Tuesday night, Spanky's after falling back, 4-0, after three innings, rallied and started clobbering the ball to early demolish Sauget, 17-5, in nine innings. Monday night, again facing 8-3 deficit after six frames, bounced back with booming bats and registered a come-from-behind, cliff-hanging 12-11, victory in nine innings.

The two wins over Sauget upped Spanky's record to 4-1. Tonight, Spanky's will be at Edwardsville's Hoppe Park diamond for a 7:30 p.m. game with Trenton. Then, they'll take to the road for the toughest road series of the entire campaign — four straight nine-inning games at Clarinda, Iowa, defending National Baseball Congress' defending champions Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

In the triumph Tuesday night for the Spanky's, it wasn't all hitting which won for them. On the mound, in his debut and making a bid to help solve their need for top-flight pitching, was Edwardsville's young southpaw, Pat Braun. For the past two years, he hurled for Lewis and Clark J.C., where he posted a winning record.

In the opening frame, it was obvious that Braun was nervous as he walked the first batter, Vince Plantz of Collinsville, who scored after advancing on a wild pitch and then scored as the second batter, Mike Robertson, singled him home.

After that initial run, young Braun got a real break. He calmly fanned probably the best Sauget hitter, Ron Rohlfing, but having heard of the batting skills of the next batter, Jim Greenwald, he walked him to put two runners on with only one out.

On the first subsequent pitch, Lance McCord, former SIUE hurler, drove Granite City native, Jack Scarborough back to the fence in left in what looked like a sure four-bagger. Somehow, the fleet footed Scarborough ran the ball down and made a sensational catch at the fence.

Of course, everyone was running, but believe it or not, the entire Sauget team thought that McCord's out was the third and Scarborough's skipping and accurate throw to catcher Joe Gasaway, was relayed back to third-baseman, Keith Koskison, to complete a most unusual double-play.

After struggling through the second inning, young Braun was raked up with three more runs as a result of a lead-off walk and shortstop error.

From that point on, it was all Braun who posted six innings with only six scattered hits while fanning eight. Incidentally, Braun was the season with Vanzo's and was "borrowed" for the game.

Batting stars for Spanky's were: second baseman Roger Hill with two-for-five but who drove in four runs; J. V. Victorian, two-for-four, two rbi's; Bill, two-for-five, 1 rbi; Granite City's Tom Greco, four-for-six and two runs batted in; Joe Gasaway, 1-for-four and 1 rbi; Doug Peters 2-for-4, and finally, Scarborough, 1-for-2 and a rbi.

Greco, who had been struggling with, for him, a mild batting slump, has bounced back and has racked up eight hits in 13 trips in the last trio of games.

Batting star for the Spanky's in Monday night's game against Sauget was their catcher-third baseman, Keith Koskison. He went three-for-six with a homer and a pair of singles. Granite City's young Danny Patterson, looking stronger and stronger in each game, hit a two-run homer. Jack Scarborough who shows no signs of slowing down (he's been on the team since it was formed seven years ago) went 2-for-4 with a pair of singles. Gasaway was 2-for-4 with a single and a double, and Victorian continued his consecutive game hitting streak to eight with one single.

As the Spanky's prepare to head for Iowa, manager Stolte anxiously was seen talking with his two ailing ace hurlers, southpaw Marc Gluckman (Washington U. grad) and Steve Wies, Tuesday night. Both are hopeful of making the trip. Only Keith Reinhardt, righty, and southpaw Vince Broderick, are at full strength.

Business manager, Peterson, said Tuesday night that he was contemplating contacting the St. Louis Cardinals player director in an attempt to "sign" those marginal players signed the past two years and aren't surefire to make it, but who may be assigned to perform with teams like the Spanky's for much-needed playing time, etc.

Explained Peterson: "I feel that our boys are playing a grade of games equal to or a little better than the pros' one-A league games. And, that a season with us, particularly the pitcher, would help them a great deal in their development."

Talking about the pros, Spanky's has lost two standout hurlers this past week: William (Mac) Shanks to the Blue Jays and Stan Fabre to the Pirates.

As Gateway Nationals Near

Garlits' luck almost too good

Defending Gateway Nationals Top Fuel Champion Don Garlits is on quite a string of good fortune in 1984. It seems that the biggest draw in drag racing, the reigning "Big Daddy of Dragdom," still has the psychological edge over his dragger competition he has enjoyed since the late fifties.

So far, in open competition this season, he has beat virtually every other top driver in the business including Gary Beck, Shirley Muldowney and Gene Snow, due entirely to the others' mechanical or mental failures.

Garlits has not held Grand American Championship Series events run (Winternationals and Springnationals) and enters the 10th Annual AHRA Gateway Nationals (June 14, 15, 16 and 17 at St. Louis International Raceway), a full 200 points ahead of Gene Snow in the race for SHRA - Top Fuel World Championship. It's a race that remains tight (1,650 to 850 points) only because Snow has been runner-up at both '84 events.

In the Winternationals final round, Snow's rear tires lost traction and his brakes failed during final round preparations at the Springnationals.

The Garlits psychology didn't get across to Danny Dannel though, the Kendall Oil backed veteran's first round opponent in the recent Bakersfield Cal. Fuel and Gas Championships. There, Don Garlits lost a close race because of getting a slightly slower start than Dannel, though the times favored Garlits, 5.75, 243.24 to a better but losing 5.73, 244.56.

The early loss will probably not be a problem in St. Louis for a proprietor of the world's first drag racing museum, located in Ocala, Fla. For Don Garlits has won eight of the nine previous AHRA Gateway Nationals. Between the wins and the string of good luck, odds makers would certainly give Garlits a big edge to win again.

Other AHRA Gateway National Top Fuel entries are Jerry (the King) Ruth (Seattle), George Tolon (Elmhurst), Dick LaHate (Lansing, MI), Chris (the Greek) Karamezines (Chicago) and a dozen others.

AHRA Gateway qualifying begins Thursday afternoon, June 14 in all classes, and final eliminations, after three solid days of qualifying, will begin Sunday, June 17 at approximately noon.

Nelson's hosts two tourneys

Lord Nelson's Sports Complex, located at 4015 Pontoon Road, is sponsoring two slow-pitch softball tournaments later this month. The two tourneys, Class C and D events, will begin on June 29 and conclude with the championships on July 1.

Travel money will be awarded to the teams finishing best. Team managers seeking further information about either tournament or wishing to register their teams should call either 931-6338 or 931-4497.

John 3:17... "For God sent his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved."

Did you know that no matter how many sins you have committed, and no matter how bad they are, God does not condemn you for them? God does not see you as a sinful man or woman. He sees you as you can be and not as you are. He sees you with all your sins forgiven. He sees you pure and spotless. He sees you absolutely perfect.

Are you wondering how God can see you perfect when you can't see yourself that way? GOD SEES YOU THROUGH A VEIL. That veil is the flesh of His Son Jesus, who died on the cross for you that your sins might be forgiven.

You are already forgiven for every sin you have ever committed. All you have to do is believe what God said and accept His Son as the sacrifice for your sins. Then you WILL BE as God sees you.

Forgiveness is only a prayer away. Won't you ask Him today?

MOURNING BLOUSE is displayed by Mrs. Alma Beckman at a meeting of the Five Star Club of Granite City Trust and Savings Bank. She spoke on the early life along the river banks in this area and of the people who chose this for their home. Viewing the blouse is from left, Marie Stanek, Elizabeth McCoy and Janita Crowley.

Early settlements is program topic

The Five Star Club of Granite City Trust and Savings Bank enjoyed a "Trip Through the Years" as Alma Beckman, guest speaker, told of her early life on the river banks, when barges stopped to obtain supplies from local farmers, and brought news of happenings up and down their route.

The group viewed the display of items depicting the history of this area. Several could recall the use of the shocking peg, straight razor, and McGuffey Reader. In addition to Mrs. Beckman's display, club members Hazel Scherrills and Clara Sotiroff brought family heirlooms to be viewed by the group. The civil war discharge certificate and medals of Richard Lee were the oldest items shown.

Emylee Alford, club coordinator, stated reservations are still available for trips to Shaw's Gardens, June 21, McDonnell/Douglas World Headquarters, July 19, and Las Vegas on Oct. 23. Persons interested should contact her at 876-1212. Refreshments were served to 50 guests present. The club welcomes new members 60 years of age plus, she added.

Public CPR classes set

Certified instructors will conduct CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation) training classes of four hours each on June 16, 23 and 30 at the Granite City Masonic Temple, 20th Street and Cleveland Boulevard. Each class will begin at 10 a.m. and will end at 2 p.m.

Worshipful Master Charles Tucker states that these classes being conducted as a community service, are free of charge, and invite and encourages the public to attend and participate. The information gained from these classes could save a life in the future.

The number per class is limited and will be on a first-come basis. Those interested may call Edward Morton at 931-2236 to register or obtain further information.

Girl Scouts

Jo Ann Arth, mother of Susan. But when something had happened to one of them, they really rally around."

Ann, who is going to be a sophomore at Granite City High School next year, said she went through grade school with one of the Yehling children. "He was really nice, so Susan and I decided the family could use the money a lot more than we could."

SUSAN AND ANN had been planning to use the money for "fun summer things" but changed their minds after hearing how badly the fire damaged the Yehling home.

The two girls are the last members of the River Bluffs Council Girl Scout Troop 196.

Mrs. Arth said that most of the other girls have lost interest in the program. "The girls had been saving money for more than a year," she said. "The money was a result of profits from a spaghetti dinner, candy sales and cookie sales."

SHE SAID THAT the girls had about $700 in the account earlier this year. "They decided that since they were the only ones left in the troop, they would host a mother-daughter banquet for the girls and mothers at St. Elizabeth School in May," she said. "After they paid those bills, they had the $215 left."

Susan, who recently graduated from the Catholic grade school, said she knows one of the Yehling girls because she also is a Girl Scout. She knows one of the other children because she sings in the youth choir with him.

"The two girls think pretty much the same," said Mrs. Arth. "They started talking when they heard about the fire and, pretty soon, it was apparent what they were going to do to help."

SUSAN IS THE daughter of Donald and Jo Ann Arth of 1700 Ferguson Ave. Ann is the daughter of Charles and Lorraine Miskell of 1709 Sycamore Ave.

Both girls were surprised that their deed was thought of so highly in the community. "My daughter says this donation is no big deal," said Mrs. Arth. "But I'm proud of her."

Local woman to be recognized in Jefferson Award ceremonies

By SUZANNE INDELICATO
of the Press-Record

Karen Costello has the opportunity this year to join the ranks of such people as Kirk Douglas, Paul Volcker and Helen Hayes. As local winner of this year's Jefferson Award, she will be considered in the selection of five national winners of the award for outstanding public service benefiting local communities. Douglas, Volcker and Helen Hayes received the national award last year in different categories.

Mrs. Costello, of 48 Villa Drive, will be among five St. Louis area winners of the award presented with a bronze medallion, featuring a replica of the Seal of the United States. The presentations will be conducted tomorrow during a special luncheon at the Bel-Air Hilton in St. Louis. The local award has been sponsored by Channel 5 for the past six years.

Mrs. Costello was chosen from 300 entries as a Jefferson Award recipient last March because of her involvement in foster parenting, the Alpha Center for Pregnant Women in Distress, Hospice of Madison County and various church activities.

The fact that she was nominated for the award was just as big of a surprise to Mrs. Costello as winning it was. She was nominated for the award by family friend Gladys Waggoner.

"I came home and the phone was ringing," Mrs. Costello said. "Gladys said, 'Are you sitting down? You are one of the winners of the Jefferson Award.' I didn't have any suspicion I'd been nominated. Really just didn't hit me. They'd never said a word to me that I'd even been nominated."

Mrs. Costello is humble about winning the award and is reluctant to admit her chances of winning the national award, to be presented in Washington, D.C.

She has been a foster parent for eight years, caring for 17 children from 2 days to 3 years old. Most of the children stayed in her home several weeks. One was with her nine months.

That child was born with a heart defect. One of the highlights of her life, Mrs. Costello said, was finding parents willing to accept the consequences and adopt the child. Doctors had warned that the child may not have long to live.

"He's now a 3½-year-old chubby, bouncing boy. Modern medicine can do a lot, but I believe in good, old-fashioned tender loving care. He's never had to have surgery yet," she beams.

Because of the emotional loss she felt when giving up that particular child, Mrs. Costello joined the Alpha Center for Pregnant Women in Distress three years ago. As a volunteer, she accompanies girls and women to child birth classes and in labor. The primary goal is to produce a healthy baby.

Mrs. Costello says the work is very emotional. "I hear of surroundings that bring a girl to us. I never knew a world existed that exists for some of these girls. Hopefully, we can make a change so they will provide a home life for their children. Most of them keep their children."

Why does she get involved in helping people? "Because, I guess, financially I don't have to work. My husband (Paul, a supervisor of the financial department at Granite City Steel) was active in United Way, and it's funny how you can get pulled in. I was first active in church, and I guess if you have the time, you give it."

Bi-State to reduce fares

Bi-State has announced that it will reduce fares for all local routes in Madison and St. Clair counties by 33 percent, starting Sept. 1. The reduction will mean a decrease in a rider's cost from 75 to 50 cents.

Exceptions to the reduced fare will include bus routes that either begin or end in Missouri and all express routes.

The bus company has rolled back fares in an effort to encourage new ridership. The decrease was negotiated between representatives of Madison and St. Clair counties and the Bi-State Development Agency. The agreement will provide a subsidy to offset costs to the bus company if sufficient new fares are not obtained.

The fare reduction will begin in September, since that is the month when the annual fare modifications are made.

Weber files motion against Verticchio

Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber told the Press-Record Monday afternoon that he has filed a motion in the Circuit Court to have special prosecutor Paul C. Verticchio discharged from his position. The move to have Verticchio discharged came after Verticchio announced that he would appeal the dismissal of charges against Weber. Weber had been accused of directing an assistant (Keith Jensen) to obtain grand jury indictments before the March 20 primary (in which Weber was re-nominated) in an investigation of assessments practices. Weber was also accused of telling the assistant to have the grand jury issue the indictments before the next session of the special grand jury which was investigating Weber himself. "I think it's a waste of money," said Weber in response to Verticchio's appeal. "I think his (Verticchio's) job is done." Verticchio said he believes the judge erred in dismissing the charges against Weber. He said that, if Weber's attorneys will agree, they will jointly file a motion directly to the Illinois Supreme Court, because it would provide for a speedier decision on the case. WEBER TERMED Verticchio's pursuit of charges against him as being "pure crass politics. I guess they figure if they can't beat me fair and square, they'll say a lot of bad things about me and hope the public doesn't see through it," he said. "DCI (Department of Criminal Investigation) did an investigation of me," said Weber. "After interviewing 100 people and going through reams of paper, you know what they decided? They decided to give me two awards at the governor's mansion last week. Verticchio's motion to bring the case before the Illinois Supreme Court would require the cooperation of Weber's defense attorneys, Donald E. Groshong and Edward C. Moorman. Weber, however, says he will not cooperate.

"I WAS INTERVIEWED four times by DCI and I testified three times in front of the grand jury. I've cooperated with these people 100 percent down the line. I think to pursue this matter is an abuse of the criminal justice system and it's an abuse of the taxpayers' money," Weber said. He feels Judge A.A. Mateosian should discharge Verticchio. "The grand jury has acquitted me," he said. "The indictment says my instructions were not to the detriment of the public and were not in excess of my lawful authority," Weber said.

Nursing home reform needs a high priority

SPRINGFIELD REPORT
By STATE REPRESENTATIVE
SAM W. WOLF

Over the past two years, the issue of nursing home reform has become a very complex problem and one that should be addressed. Senior citizens who live in nursing homes have been neglected, abused, threatened, and some have died, because they are not getting the attention they need and deserve.

These calamities may have been prevented if a stronger system of state regulation had been in place. Tougher criminal laws to deter patient abuse and neglect may have also prevented the deaths of nursing home patients. Because of these reasons, I have been working with Speaker Michael Madigan and other members of the House to correct and improve existing nursing home laws to prevent more tragedies that involve the elderly and disabled.

Everyone agrees the current regulatory system is not working and legislation is necessary to make sure it does work effectively. A bill that recently passed the House, HB 2878, is one such piece of legislation that I believe will address the issue of nursing home reform.

House Bill 2878 mandates tough enforcement against those who have committed abuses using loopholes in the existing laws and provides fairer treatment for those who operate quality facilities. The bill provides for tough enforcement by cracking down on illegal operators. For instance, unlicensed operators will be put out of business immediately by being fined $5,000 per day for every day they continue in operation.

House Bill 2878 also provides for the following:

—Creation of a 24-hour hotline for reporting suspected nursing home abuses.

—Mandating educational programs to train people on how to detect and report violations.

—Development of emergency plans for dealing with weather emergencies.

—Imposition of fines of up to $10,000 for convictions of life threatening or health threatening violations.

—Clarification of the duties of the attorney general and the state attorney to investigate suspected violations.

—Providing, under the Freedom of Information Act, reports on nursing home inspections to the public;

—Implementation of new regulations allowing the Department of Public Health to move more rapidly to investigate abuses and suspend operating certificates when warranted.

The nursing home reform bill passed the House overwhelmingly on a vote of 90 to 0, and is pending in the Senate for further consideration. Senator Aldo DeAngelis (R-Chicago Heights) is the co-sponsor of the legislation in the Senate and has said he expects the bill to receive a speedy approval.

Another piece of legislation which will improve the health care of the elderly is House Bill 2426. This bill is designed to provide a limited program of home health care services aimed at preventing unnecessary or premature placement of elderly persons into nursing homes.

House Bill 2426, as passed by the House, directs the Department on Aging to designate three separate areas in Illinois for pilot home health care projects to be undertaken. These pilot projects must be licensed home health agencies and should be operational no later than January 1985.

It is my hope that this home health care project will help the legislature identify the gaps and shortfalls in present Medicaid and Medicare home health coverage so that the Department on Aging can direct present home health care resources toward areas identified as deficient.

The House has included an additional $12.00 million within the Department on Aging budget to provide sufficient funds to initiate this program and allow the Department to fund several in-home services in designated areas. An advisory committee, within the Department, will oversee the project and advise and counsel Aging officials on the quality and adequacy of in-home services.

Among the services provided are in-home nursing services, housekeeping, home delivered meals, education in personal care and hygiene, respite care and other non-medical social services that may allow persons to remain self-sufficient and independent.

I would very much like to see this program successfully implemented on a state-wide basis because it would delay the painful act of placing our loved ones into nursing homes.

CENSUS SURVEY IN AREA WEEK OF JUNE 18 TO 23

The U.S. Bureau of the Census will conduct its regular survey of employment and unemployment in this area during the week of June 18 to 23, according to Marvin L. Postma, director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Kansas City.

In addition to the usual questions on employment and unemployment, the June survey will have questions on childbearing. The information obtained will be used to determine how increased or decreased numbers of births at specified periods in the past have altered the nation's population composition.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 1,100 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

For example, in April 1984, the survey indicated that of the 113.2 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 104.4 million were employed. The nation's unemployment rate remained at 7.8 percent.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

BAC announces enrollment increase over last year

Over half of all students entering college for the first time are enrolling in community, technical or junior colleges.

Belleville Area College (BAC) is meeting that educational demand with new up-to-date classes and equipment and expanded day offerings at extension centers. As a result, the college has seen more students this year than ever before.

According to statistics issued by the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges, 11 million individuals enrolled in one or more community college classes during the past school year.

More than 20,000 students enrolled this past year at BAC. During the fall semester, 12,415 students enrolled, a 3.7 percent increase over the same semester the previous year.

The increase comes at a time when community and junior-college enrollments statewide and nationwide are dropping.

BAC ENROLLMENT increase is especially evident in its business-related programs. Enrollment in these programs increased 22.5 percent over last year.

The most dramatic increase has been in the data processing program. This year, 3,518 students are enrolled in the program, a 38.9 percent increase over last year's class of 2,544.

Belleville Area College is a comprehensive community college serving approximately 13,000 students. It serves a 2,100-square-mile area, which includes major portions of Randolph, Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties and small sections of Montgomery, Washington, Perry and Bond counties.

Director of academic services is named

Miriam Dusenbery, acting director of the Office of Academic Services at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been named permanent director of the office. The appointment, subject to approval by the SIU Board of Trustees, was made today by Vice President and Provost Barbara J. Tetters.

Miss Dusenbery has been acting director since the Office of Academic Services was established July 1, 1983. The unit has three components: advisement and counseling, instructional support and career planning and placement.

A MEMBER OF the SIU staff since 1968, Miss Dusenbery was a professor of education and coordinator of several reading programs at the Carbondale campus until 1975, when she was named coordinator of the Science Awareness National programs, career programs, adult continuing education, basic education and high school equivalency preparation for those who did not complete their secondary school education, and non-degree courses for informal learning.

University-transfer programs cover the first two years of a four-year college curriculum. Completion of the first two years at BAC leads to an associate of arts or associate of science degree.

Career programs are aimed at students who want to go to work in business or technical fields after one or two years of college. Students earn certificates or associate of applied science degrees upon completion of career programs.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Should residents of Illinois be allowed to obtain a no-fault divorce? This is a question which has been debated in the Illinois legislature for many years. At the present time, Illinois is one of only two states that still require proof of fault in a dissolution of marriage.

When the party seeking the divorce proves the other spouse is at "fault", what we are actually saying is that he must allege that his spouse is guilty of an act which established grounds for the divorce. Some possible grounds for divorce in this state include adultery, extreme and repeated acts of physical or mental cruelty, habitual drunkenness for two years, desertion for one year, impotency, or conviction of a felony.

Should a party who wants a divorce have to prove fault on the part of his spouse in order to have the marriage dissolved? Even more importantly, if both parties agree to the divorce, should one spouse have to take the witness stand and allege that the other is guilty of committing various acts? There are arguments both for and against requiring this procedure in Illinois.

The opponents note that requiring fault in a divorce merely serves to make the parties more hostile toward each other. When one takes the witness stand and alleges that the other has been guilty of extreme and repeated mental cruelty, for instance, this frequently is not very well received. In addition, opponents of the requirement of fault also note that requiring this type of testimony at the time of divorce frequently puts parties in the position where they must lie on the witness stand. Those in favor of requiring fault, on the other hand, note that marriage is a sacred institution and that the Legislature should not make it easy to obtain a divorce.

Effective July 1, 1984, the Illinois Legislature has enacted legislation which adds to a limited degree a no fault divorce provision in this state. This new act states that if the parties have lived separate and apart for two years and if "irreconcilable differences" have caused the "irretrievable break-down of the marriage," then a dissolution can be obtained without fault being attributed to either party. The new law also allows the two year period to be shortened to six months if both parties agree to this.

Memoriams 32

RICHARD M. BARKER,
 June 12, 1983. This is just a resting place sometimes the road of life seems long as we travel through the years and, with a heart that's broken and eyes brimful of tears we falter in our weariness and sink beside the way, but God leans down and whispers, child, there'll be another day. And the road will grow much smoother and much easier to face, so do not be disheartened. In His amazing grace - Uncle Bud and Gladys also Wife and Children. 32 6 14

IN LOVING memory of
E. KATZMAN III, June 13, 1983. It's been one year now we love you very much. I know we will see each other again some day. We miss you John. Dawn talks about you all the time. We love and miss you very much. Your Karen and Daughter. 32 6 14

IN LOVING memory of
EDWARD HAGNAUER, June 17, 1983. You're a million ten father, dear, nor ever shall you be, as long as life and memory last, we shall remember you. Your Children and Grandchildren. 32 6 14

CUB 'Town Hall' meeting set

Southwestern Illinois residents concerned about rising utility rates will be given the opportunity to speak their minds at the first "Town Hall" meeting of the newly-formed Citizens Utility Board. The meeting will be Monday, June 18, at 7 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Collinsville.

CUB is a statewide citizens organization which will represent residential and small business consumers of Illinois' electric, gas, telephone, and water utilities before the Illinois Commerce Commission and similar agencies.

The Town Meetings are designed to give residents from each of Illinois' 22 Congressional Districts an opportunity to formulate CUB's "Action Agenda" for the remainder of 1984 and early 1985.

"It is our hope that concerned citizens from throughout the 21st Congressional District will come out to let us know what's on their minds — and how CUB can best represent them," said CUB Campaign Director Larry Kamer. "CUB will have the kind of clout to ensure that the consumer's voice is heard when rate increases are proposed."

CUB also is actively soliciting memberships in Southwestern Illinois as part of a statewide effort to enroll 100,000 members by the end of 1984. An Illinois law gives CUB unique authority to insert its membership information in utility bills. The first such enclosure will be found in 4.5 million telephone bills in July.

"A $5 minimum membership is a small investment in holding the line on skyrocketing utility rates," said Kamer. "But by pooling the resources of thousands of Illinois consumers, we can hire the best experts and advocates to challenge unreasonable rate hike requests," he said. Contributions may be sent to CUB at Post Office Box 5382, Chicago, Ill. 60680.

Arrest St. Louis men in flight with child

Two felony counts and four other charges were filed against Gary L. Trolinger, 25, of St. Louis, following an incident involving his estranged wife and small child at a residence in Granite City, occurring at 2:10 p.m. Monday.

In informational documents issued through the Madison County state's attorney's office Tuesday afternoon, Trolinger was charged with two counts of unlawful restraint (felonies), two counts of battery and one charge each of assault and criminal trespass to land.

Bond was set at $100,000. Trolinger also was booked on an active Granite City warrant alleging failure to appear in court on a charge of not having a valid driver's license.

Another St. Louisan, Robert J.

Lambert, 26, also was charged with assault in connection with the same incident.

Police entered the case when an unidentified caller reported a station wagon was chasing a pickup truck in the area of Kilarney and Emert avenues and that a possible child abduction had taken place.

An officer went to the home of Diane Wallace, 2516 Revere's Route, where a Mrs. Jackie Harris reported that a man had entered the yard and attempted to abduct Mrs. Harris' daughter, who was being cared for by Mrs. Wallace. He also attempted to grab Mrs. Wallace's young daughter, it was alleged.

At this point in the interview, the officer learned that a police sergeant had stopped the two vehicles reported in the chase on Nameoki Road at Pershing Avenue. All of those involved were then taken to police headquarters.

Police learned from Mrs. Nina Trolinger that she and her 14-month old son were staying at the Wallace home.

Mrs. Trolinger alleged that her estranged husband, Gary, had jumped over the front lawn fence and grabbed one of two young girls in the yard and, when Mrs. Trolinger screamed, he dropped the one child and grabbed the second girl.

It was alleged Trolinger said he would release the child at a local store when Mrs. Trolinger gave him some car keys.

As Mrs. Trolinger approached Trolinger, she alleged that her estranged husband tried to hit her with his fist, but missed. He then dropped the young girl and grabbed his own son, fleeing on foot down the street.

After Mrs. Trolinger allegedly threw the car keys at the driver of a waiting pickup truck, Trolinger got into the truck with the child and was pursued by Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Trolinger in an auto.

The charge against Lambert, a passenger in the truck, was filed after he allegedly threatened Mrs. Wallace with bodily harm during the incident. He was released at 7:30 p.m. Monday after posting a $102 cash bond.

The driver of vehicle was freed without charges, reports said.

$70,000 fire destroys house

A one-story frame dwelling at 1706 Garfield Ave., owned by Mark Yehling, was virtually destroyed by fire at 9:20 p.m. Monday. Origin of the blaze appeared to be faulty wiring in the attic, according to reports.

Firefighters from Granite City Station 3 on Johnson Road were alerted to the fire by a telephone call and remained at the scene for three hours.

Estimated loss to the structure was $50,000 and loss of contents was listed at $20,000.

No injuries were sustained in fighting the blaze, a department spokesman advised.

The Add-On Heat Pump

It uses free outdoor air to help save energy
all year 'round

The add-on heat pump can be an important energy supplement to any forced air heating system.

If you're planning to install central air conditioning, or to replace or convert your present forced air heating system, look into the Add-On Heat Pump. Our Marketing
Advisor has details.

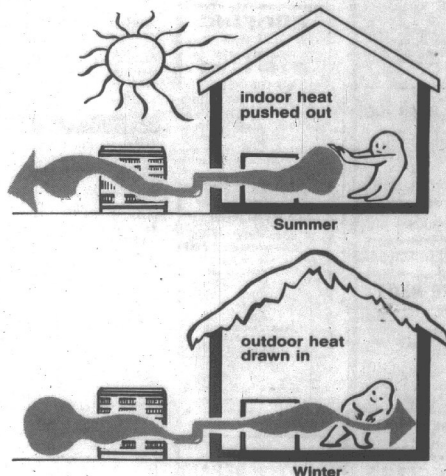

In Summer

During the warmer months, the heat pump operates just like any other central air conditioning system—it extracts heat from inside of your home, removes it to the outside—providing you with cool, dehumidified air.

In Winter

The Add-On Heat Pump can provide up to two units of heat energy for every one unit of electrical energy, down to about 30°F, at which time it shuts off and your furnace takes over.

For more information on cooling and heating, talk to our Marketing Advisor.
